The University of New Orleans Training, Resource and Assistive-technology Center (TRAC) provides quality services to persons with disabilities, rehabilitation professionals, educators and employers. Established in 1986, this program has grown and responded to the changing needs of the community.

TRAC exists on revenues generated through its programs, which means that we rely on fee-for service programs to provide the training people with disabilities need to become independent. Many of our consumers are referred through Louisiana Rehabilitation Services, which is funded by Federal and State dollars. These programs help people with disabilities go to work, allowing them to become independent of government funded disability support. The Council on State Administrators of Vocational Rehabilitation (CSAVR) document that for each $1 invested, $6 is returned. See Report below.
